

Make a bid while you're still in your PJs and slippers!

Seaway News Thursday, March 11th, 2010

Buyers will be able to take part in an upcoming auction in Cornwall without ever leaving the comfort of their homes.

"You can be in your bathrobe and fluffy slippers and still make a bid," says Theresa Taylor, the prominent and innovative Cornwall-based auctioneer who is using technology to make her sales more accessible to everyone

She will be offering an eclectic amassed inventory of toys, vintage fashion jewellery, antiques, furniture, vintage clothing, glass, and more, at the Ramada Inn, Simon Fraser Room 805, Brookdale Ave., Cornwall, Ontario on April 2. Sale starts at 9 a.m.

Or you can "attend" online. You can hear Theresa's voice and make a bid. Theresa also offers an order of sale catalogue. About 90 items will be sold every hour so you can time when you want to bid on a certain item. Want to know the market value of an item immediately? Get the news right off the Internet in live time.

Or, if you don't want to wait for a particular item to come up for auction, you can pre-register and bid immediately. If you're busy and can't attend the auction in person, this is a great alternative.

The auctioneer points out that online sales are very popular with local and international bidders. In fact, the last time she held such an auction, a fellow from down the road bid on an item, won it, and then got dressed and walked over to pay for and pick up his purchase.

For details, visit <http://www.theresataylor.com> or bid live online at <http://www.proxibid.com/theresataylor>.